VEGETINE FOR DROPSY.
I NEVER SHALL FORGET THE FIRST

DOSE.

Providence.

Mr. H. R. Stevens : Dear Sir-I have been a great sufferer from dropsy. I was confined to my house more than a year. Six months of the time I was entirely helpless. I was obliged to have two men help me in an out of bed. I was swollen 19 inches larger than my natural size around my waist. I suffered all a man could and live. tried all remedies for Dropsy. I had three dif-ferent doctors. My friends all expected I would die: many nights I was expected to die before morning. At last Vegetine was sent me by a friend. I never shall forget the first dose. I could realize its good effects from day to day I was getting better. After I had taken some 5 or 6 bottles I could sleep quite well nights. I hagan to gain now quite fast. After taking some began to gain now quite fast. After taking some 10 bottles, I could walk from one part of my room to the other. My appetite was good; the dropsy had at this time dissappeared. I kept taking the Vegetine until I regained my usual health. I heard of a great many cures by using Vegetine after I got out and was able to attend to my work. I am a carpenter and builder. I will also say it has cured an aunt of my wife's of Neuralgia, who had suffered for more than 20 years. She says she has not had any neuralgia for eight months. I have given it to one of my children for Canker Humor. 1 have no doubt in my mind it will cure any humor; it is a great cleanser of the blood; it is safe to give a child. I will recommend it to the world. My father is 80 years old, and he says there is nothing like it to give strength and life to an aged person. I cannot be too thankful for the use of it. I am.

Very gratefully yours.

JOHN S. NOTTAGE.

ALL DISEASES OF THE BLOOD .- If Vegetine will relieve pain; cleanse, purify, and cure such diseases, restoring the patient to perfect health after trying different physicians, many remedies and suffering for years, is it not conclusive proof, if you are a sufferer you can be cured? Why is this medicine performing such great cures? It works in the blood, in the circu-lating fluid. It can truly be called the Great Blood Purifier. The great source of disease originates in the blood; and no medicine that does not act directly upon it to purify and renovate, has any just claim upon public atten-

VEGETINE LOWE MY HEALTH TO YOUR VALU-ABLE VEGETINE.

Newport, Ky., April 29, 1877. H. R. Stevens, esq.

Dear Sir—Having suffered from a breaking out of Cankerous Sores for more than five years, caused by an accident of a fractured bone, which fracture ran into a running sore, and having used everything I could think of and nothing helped me until I had taken six bottles of your valuable medicine, which Mr. Miller, the apothecary, recommended very highly. The sixth bottle cured me, and all I can say is, that

I owe my health to your valuable Vegetine. Your most obedient servant, ALBERT VON ROEDER 'It is unnecessary for me to enumerate the disoases for which the Vegetine should be used. I know of no disease which will not admit of its use, with good results. Almost innumerable complaints are caused by poisonous secretions in the blood, which can be entirely expelled from the system by the use of the Vegetine. When the blood is perfectly cleansed the disease rapidly yields; all pains cease; healthy action is promptly restored, and the patient is cured."

A Five-Year Old.

A pretty little girl, about five years old, with one of those sugar loat bats, modeled after Fra Diavolo's in the play no doubt, came on board the Staten Island ferry boat Westfield last evening. In her train was a weary looking, middle aged lady, whom she treated with condescension and called "Auntie." After the young lady had found a comfortable seat in the bow of the boat she allowed her aunt to take a camp stool near by. When the boat started she began a systematic method of terture to wonderful resignation. "Is that water, austic?" she asked, pointing to the bay. "Yes, dear," said the weary looking lady. "Did the rain make all that water?

"Why didn't the rain make all that water?" "Oh, the rain wouldn't affect it. von know." "Why wouldn't the rain 'feet it?" "Oh, you can't understand that now."

"No, darling."

"Wby can't I understand it?" "Never mind; do keep still, that's a dea auntie's head aches." "What makes your head ache, auntie ?

"The heat, I suppose." "What makes the heat?" "The sun, of course, dear." "What is she sun?"

"You know what the sun is well enough.

shan't answer that.' The little girl twisted uneasily in her chair for a moment and then burst out with the ques-

"What makes horse's bones?" "I don't know," said the aunt, in a despair ing tonc. "I think they're made out of skin," said the little girl with an air of conviction. "Yes. they're made out of skin an' hair an' wool an' rubber; thats what horse's bones is made out "Yes, dear," said the shameless woman. "If my pa gets that bone taken out of his leg he'll give me 'is watch. Would you have a bone taken out of your leg. auntie? "You ridiculous child, cl' course not." "Why not?"

"Ob, keep still!" The young woman then got up and nearly fell over the rail into the water. The aunt ut tered a shrick, and the writer, much against his will, rescued the young lady.

"Thank you sir," said the auot.
"What for?" asked the terrible infant.
"For nothing," said the rescuer.

"Auntie, did you ever see a little diekey bird flirt up 'is tail au' sing?"

"Yes, dear." "Where?" "I meant no, dc2r." (Desperately.)
"Did you see that colored lady, auctie? She had on a fearful pretty hat, ever so much pret tier than yours—I want to go home."

"You mush't go home; your mamma is sick, and you must go with me.' "What makes mamma sick?"

"Never mind, she'll be well again in a week "But I want to know what makes her sick?" "Never mind, dear." "Why?"-but just then the boat swung up to her pier at Stapleton, and the irquisitive young lady and her submissive aunt disembarked. -N. Y. World. COURTSHIP MADE EASY .- A Germ in has hit upon a plan by which a large number of girls can be courted at the same time in one room, and thinks parents with many daughters will hail him as a benefactor. The invention is based on the theory that "courtship requires a parlor, a sofa, subdued light and seclusion." The inventor constructed in his house a retiring room styled "the lovers' retreat." This apartment is exquisitely furnished. Soft velvet pile carpets cover the floor. Elegant couches are placed here and there, and as you sit down, the soft swelling tones of a musical box ascend from below, and agreeably startle you. At one end of the room is a bay window, filled with all kinds of plants, exhaling delicious odors, and presenting a rare picture of loveliness. Around the room are placed three statuettes-one of

Through a small window in one corner of the room, filled with pale, pink glass, a flood of softly tinted light falls upon upon the statuetter, and gives them a life like coloring. In the center of the ceiling, which is beautifully freecoed, is a magnificent blush rose, to imply that all that happens there is sub rosa. A silver fountain in the center of the apartments scatters odoriferous spray on the air, a gold basin receiving it as it falls. Sentiments from Schiller, Goethe, Shakspeare and other famous poets, are seattered among the fresco work. These "thoughts that breathe and words that burn' are ar ranged recording to their intensity. All bear on the subject of love. The negative sen i ments are plainted on a black ground, the next in order on a purplo, and so on, until the eards, bearing numbers to correspond with the sentiments on the walls. By means of these cards and sentiments, a dozen muto lovers may converse at a time, without disclosing their . secret thoughts to strangers, or interfering with the love making of others. As proof that the German's plan is practical, it may be stated that his eldest daughter was married the other day at the early age of nineteen. Some of the other girls are betrothed, and there are scores of applicants for the hands of the rest, just as soon as they get old enough.
